

Introducing a new EPI Advanced Learning Workshop:

Corporate Aircraft Security

Understanding the unique world and special challenges of providing executive protection in and around corporate aircraft is essential for Personal Protection Specialists (PPS).

This comprehensive workshop will introduce you to the unique nuances and various aspects of providing executive protection within the corporate aircraft world. It will also be helpful for pilots to understand the security perspective of protective teams and how better to interface with and support their mission.

A focus in this workshop will be on peer-to-peer interaction. EPI wants to engage participants, rather than lecture to them.

We will discuss different types of aircraft, how to work with a Fixed Base Operator (FBO) and Flight Crews, and other airport businesses that provides services to executive and chartered aircraft. Also covered is arranging ground transportation to and from the aircraft, aircraft security systems and protection of aircraft domestically and internationally. As an option, we will visit an FBO and perform a security walk-through of an actual aircraft, as well as speak to FBO personnel.

Other topics include:

- Pre-travel security preparations
- Handling travel emergencies
- Managing luggage and space limitations
- Conducting advances at Fixed Based Operations (FBO)
- Weapons, drugs, and contraband on corporate aircraft
- FAA Armed Security Officer (ASO) program
- Traveling with the principal on board
